Saddle Up with Dennis Brouse™ to begin airing on ETV

Show about horses designed to appeal to South Carolina's horse enthusiasts and arm chair riders alike

April 9, 2009, Le Claire, Iowa – Saddle Up with Dennis Brouse,™ a public television series that celebrates the storied relationship between horse and human, will begin airing April 12 on South Carolina's statewide network of 11 public television stations.

The show, which is hosted by highly-respected horse trainer Dennis Brouse, will be broadcast Sunday nights at 7 p.m. For a complete listing of stations, please visit www.SaddleUpWithDennisBrouse.com.

"I am thrilled that Saddle Up with Dennis Brouse will begin airing in one of the states that ranks among the top states in the country for per capita ownership of horses," said Brouse. "The series is more than a simple how-to show. In addition to training tips, it showcases the amazing relationship humans have with this magnificent animal."

Saddle Up with Dennis Brouse, which began airing on public television stations across the country in January of 2009, showcases a specific training question or situation addressed by Brouse with the horse's owner. Special features will take viewers on a powerful journey into the horse world, highlighting everything from the mounted police, to barrel racing to hippotherapy, along with segments on special breeds and classes of horses.

"From world-class polo players and miles of horse trails in and around Aiken to the Carolina and Colonial Cup races held each year at Camden's Springdale Race Course, horse lovers blanket the Palmetto State. "Saddle Up" makes a great addition to the lineup of educational programs that ETV offers South Carolinians, bringing value to their lives and helping them learn more about their world," said Debbie Hamlett, director of Marketing and Development for ETV.

Brouse has been working with horses since the age of 14. After spending time learning to train horses "the old fashioned way," he quickly realized that he was at odds with this method. Since 1996, Dennis has spent thousands of hours studying and fine-tuning his training methods. In 2002, he produced his first series of training tapes, and shortly thereafter produced a television show that aired on RFDTV.

Saddle Up with Dennis Brouse is made possible by American Cowboy, Featherlite, Fund for Horses, and Gold Buckle Network.

The program is produced by GlassOnion Productions and distributed by Executive Program Services. For more information, visit www.saddleupwithdennisbrouse.com.
